BARRETT CASE ON TRIAL IN MAYOR COWING'S COURT TODAY

Man Charged With Assaulting Marshal Price Given a Hearing

Prosecution is Strengthened and Bitter Contest is Waged—
Big Crowd Attends Trial

When the case in which James Barrett is charged with assault and battery upon Marshal William L. Price, last Saturday night, opened for trial this morning, in Mayor Cowing's court, a strong array of legal talent was found upon both sides. Assisting Deputy Prosecutor Kiplinger, were Prosecutor Bassett and the firm of Watson, Tittsworth & Green. With the defense were Attorneys Will Newbold, John D. Megee and Donald Smith. Mrs. James Barrett and Patrick Barrett were seated with the defense.

Owing to the large number of people in attendance the trial was held in the circuit room at the court house. Mayor Cowing occupied the bench and made a good impression as a magistrate.

Owing to the probability that the case, if decided against the defendant, will be appealed to the circuit court, the attorneys for both sides had their stenographers in court taking the evidence, so that the evidence might be at hand in their preparation for a second trial.

A noticeable fact in connection with the trial was that the defendant's attorneys were all Democrats while those representing the State were Republicans. Politics entered into the case upon all sides, tiffs were frequent and the fight for a jury waxed warm. The tailmen were summoned by Policeman Pea.

The jury box was first filled with the following six men: John W. Looney, Sr., Lon Ginn, John W. Davis, George Heim, Col. E. M. Hildreth and Bert Mullin.

The jury was examined by the prosecution and passed to the defense. The defense challenged Mr. Ginn for cause he having said that he had formed an opinion on the case from what he read in the newspapers. The prosecution objected to the challenge. The objection was sustained.

The defense excused John W. Davis. His place was taken by James H. Stiers. The State accepted the jury. The defense challenged Mr. Stiers because of his opinion. The State objected and the objection was sustained by the mayor. Mr. Stiers was then excused by the defense and Taylor Warfield was called.

Attorney Smith for the defense wanted to know if Marshal Price, the prosecuting witness, was making up the jury. The prosecution replied in the negative but added that as marshal he would have the right to if he chose.

Mr. Hobbs was excused by the State. R. P. Havens took his place, but was excused. Mr. Havens was succeeded by Elmer Griffith, who was excused because he had seen part of the trouble. E. B. Thomas was called, but was challenged by the defense because of his opinion. The State objected and the objection was sustained. Mr. Thomas, however, was excused by the defense. R. A. Innis was called and examined. The jury was accepted by both sides.

Upon motion of the prosecution, the witnesses for the two sides were separated and excluded from the court room.

Attorney Megee, for the defense, insisted that the prosecuting witness, William Price, be compelled to leave the room also. The State objected and after a heated argument upon this question, Mayor Cowing sustained the objection, and allowed Mr. Price to remain in the room.

The witnesses were then sworn and excluded from the room. The jury was then sworn. The jury consists of the following named men: Col. J. M. Hildreth, R. A. Innis, George W. Looney, Sr., Taylor Warfield, Lon Ginn and Bert Mullin.

The opening statement for the State was made by Attorney Tittsworth, who read the law regarding assault and battery cases, the affidavit and of what the State expected to prove.

Mr. Tittsworth in his statement severely arraigned James Barrett, charging that he had conducted his saloon business in an unlawful manner, that men had been shot and cut there, that gambling and wine rooms had been maintained up stairs, and that by means of a push button the men up stairs could be notified of an officer's approach in time to escape down a rear stairway into an alley. Mr. Tittsworth denounced Barrett as a dangerous man, stating that he had been implicated in several fights, had cut men and had been seen to shoot a man by Price himself.

Mr. Price was the first witness for the State. He testified as to having been sheriff of Rush county for two terms. He testified as to having had trouble with Barrett in front of his place on Sept. 8th, 1906, between 8:30 and 9 p. m., as to having seen a lady in the stairway and having stopped and asked her if there was anything he could do for her. He said she replied that she was waiting for her husband, Mr. Barrett. Price testified that he said "Oh, excuse me!" and passed on. "As I passed by his place about five minutes later," said Mr. Price, "Mr. Barrett came out and called me. He began cursing me for 'interfering with his business.' As I went to put my hands on him to arrest him for cursing me and for his insulting actions, he acted as if to strike at me. I took hold of him with my left hand and struck him with my right hand three or four times. I then started down the street with him to jail. His brother Eddie came across and went to jail with us."

The witness then told of the trouble at the jail, giving the same story as that he gave to the press, and reiterating that he pushed Patrick Barrett back twice before he struck him.

The officer said that he did not strike Barrett with his "black jack."

"I told him," said the witness, "that he was under arrest before I hit him, and told him he was under arrest for cursing and abusing an officer."

Mr. Price concluded his testimony at noon and court adjourned.

When court convened this afternoon, Chief of Police Price was recalled to the stand to testify as to Barrett's character, but [was excused until rebuttal after a great deal of wrangling among the attorneys.

Simp Davis was then called. He corroborated Marshal Price's testimony, saying that Barrett struck the officer first, and that Price struck Barrett with his open hand. Witness was about three feet away from the men at the time Barrett came out of the saloon.

John Stamm said that he was about ten feet away from the men at the time of the trouble. He said Barrett seized Price by the collar before the latter knocked him down. He said Price struck Barrett with his open hand and did not use his mace.

The State rested its case at 2 o'clock and the defense began the introduction of its testimony. William Vansickle was the first witness called. He said that Price called Barrett a "dirty liar," and that Barrett replied "you're worse." He said Price struck Barrett first.

On cross examination witness said that he retained no unkind feelings toward Marshal Price. He said that he did not frequent Barrett's place of business. He admitted that he had been an applicant for a position on the police force three years ago and that he failed to get it. He said that he did not hear Barrett swear while talking to the marshal.

John Wallace said that Price called Barrett a "liar," and slapped him in the face. Witness was about fifteen feet away, but could not understand all that was said. He said that he did not see Barrett attempt to strike Price, but he saw Price strike Barrett three or four times after the latter was down.

Upon cross examination he admitted having been court bailiff under Judge Morris. He said that Barrett did not hold of Price's arm nor did he see Barrett catch Price by the collar, or around the leg. He said, however, that Barrett was excited, but not boisterous.

William Wolung substantiated Mr. Wallace in the statement that Barrett did not strike Price nor swear at him. On cross examination the witness admitted that he did not see all that occurred not hear all that was said.

Patrick Carroll said that Price and Barrett were quarreling over Price's right to do something the nature of which he was not aware, when he came up. Price called Barrett "a liar," he said, and Price struck Barrett and then threw him down. He said Barrett did not swear at Price.

On cross examination the witness admitted visiting saloons frequently, but said he entertained no unkind feelings toward the marshal. He admitted that he did not see all of the difficulty. He said that he could not tell which of the two men struck the first blow. He said Barrett's back was not turned when Price struck him.

Henry Butts, who was standing on the curb, said Price called Barrett "a little — liar" during the quarrel and that Price struck Barrett first. He said Price told Barrett he was under arrest after he had struck him.

On cross examination witness said that he was "just walking around and happened to stop in front of the saloon," before the trouble. He asserted that Barrett had started away from Price before the officer struck him. The witness became somewhat confused as to the direction in which the two men were facing and walking and contradicted himself two or three times.

Mrs. Belle Hatfield testified that she heard no words, but saw the marshal strike Barrett. She said she did not see Barrett strike Price. She was standing in front of Hogsett's store at the time.

Mrs. Jennie (Levi) Taylor's testimony was practically the same as that of Mrs. Hatfield.

After court had taken a five minutes' recess, Walter Ryan was called. He said when he first saw the trouble he was in front of Miss Sue Gregg's millinery establishment. When he reached the scene of the trouble, Price had Barrett by the throat and was hitting him over the head with his black jack.

On cross examination the witness said he had known Barrett all his life. He acknowledged being on the police force, and that a detective visited gambling dens here while he was on the force, but said that he did not know Barrett had been indicted, or had pleaded guilty to indictments. He said that he had never seen any gambling in Barrett's place while on the police force, but would not say that he had ever looked for any. He admitted having been indicted for frequenting gambling dens.

The defense rested at 3:30 without putting Barrett upon the stand.

Marshal Price was recalled by the State in rebuttal. He denied striking Barrett with his mace or "black jack," or of calling Barrett "a liar." The State then rested.

Throughout the day the court room was filled with people especially saloon men who were interested in the outcome of the trial.

Attorney Tittsworth made the opening argument for the State, citing law regarding a police officer's rights, and the influence of the trouble on the morals of the community. He was followed by Attorney Newbold for the defense. Deputy Prosecutor Kiplinger then argued for the State and was followed by Attorney Megee for the defense. Prosecutor Bassett closed for the State. The case went to the jury about 5 o'clock.

President in Consultation With His State and Navy Ministers
on Board the Mayflower

Oyster Bay, Sept. 14.—The Cuban situation is being made the subject of a conference today between President Roosevelt, Acting Secretary of State Bacon and Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte. The latter officials are guests of the president on board the Mayflower. Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, who is a member of the senate committee on Cuban relations, is also on the Mayflower.

Washington, Sept. 14.—In conformity with plans put in execution several days ago, the navy department is quietly preparing several other vessels to join those already ordered to Cuba. Common prudence has obliged the military and naval general staff and board to provide against any eventuality. So while the navy is preparing its ships, the army is being carefully studied by the responsible ranking officers with the view to quick, sharp and effective action in case its services are needed. So far as can be learned there have been no troop movements in this connection, and although to-day's army orders provide for the return to the United States from the Philippines of the Twenty-first infantry, sailing from Manila Sept. 20, and the Sixth infantry, sailing Oct. 10, it is stated that these are ordinary routine movements projected long ago.

The only portions made public of dispatches received at the state department from Mr. Sleeper, charge at Havana, say that there has been fighting reported in Pinar del Rio and in the vicinity of Cienfuegos. They tell of the blowing up of bridges, but indicate that the railway to Pinar del Rio may be reopened to-day. Mr. Sleeper says the government is doing everything in its power to suppress the insurrection. The railroads, it was stated, have issued notices warning passengers to defer their travels, as there is danger of insurgents dynamiting trains. Practically all of the dispatches made public were in confirmation of press dispatches.

CORONER DOES NOT PLACE THE BLAME

His Verdict Holds that Three Men Met Death by Freak of Elements.

Coroner W. S. Coleman today filed his verdict from his inquest into the deaths of Oliver Glore, Reuben Boatright and William Pettiford. The coroner does not attempt to place the blame for the accident and the verdicts in the three cases are alike. The verdict in the case of Boatright is as follows: "Death was due to an electric shock, received by coming in contact with a wire in the fence along the C. & H. & D. R. R. company's right of way, east of Rushville, Ind., said wire being charged with electricity from a trolley wire of the I. & C. traction company, through a guy wire, the insulator on which had been burned out during an electric storm Sept. 10th.

CARNIVAL COMPANY IS COMING HERE

Rushville Will Have Another
Fair During Week of October 15th

Edward Fick, representing the Indianapolis Amusement company, was here yesterday evening arranging to give a carnival in this city during the week of October 15th.

Mr. Fick gave a street carnival in this city last October. Some of the attractions included the lady who slid down a wire from the court house tower, the balloonist, Young Brothers' Electrical theatre and others, he says, are still with him.

"We will give our carnival on the lot east of the mill race and north of the cemetery road," said Mr. Fick last night, "and will guarantee a clean moral show. In all we have ten attractions, including a plantation show, a vaudeville theatre, two electric theatres, razzle dazzle, merry-go-round, ferris wheel, band, and various free attractions. Moorman Bros., of this city, are going to join us with their "Black Art" show. Our company has been touring Illinois and Michigan this season and has been meeting with splendid success."

CLAIMS OFFICER ASSAULTED HIM

Edward Hilling Files an Affidavit
Against Policeman
at Richmond

The Richmond Palladium says: "In the court of Squire Abbott, Ed Hilling has filed an affidavit against Patrolman William Golden, charging him with assault and battery. Patrolman Golden arrested Hilling a few days ago on a charge of deserting his family. Golden says that Hilling resisted and he used force to arrest him. Hilling claims he did not resist and says that he was assaulted without cause. The charge against Hilling in the city police court, wife desertion, was dismissed on motion of Prosecutor Jessup, because Hilling's family had been sent to Cincinnati.

Hilling was struck in the face by Officer Golden when he attempted to arrest him and was badly injured. The policeman claimed Hilling attempted to resist and placed his hand upon his hip pocket in the attitude of drawing a weapon. Golden did not wait to see what Hilling's intentions really were, but struck him with his fist. Hilling claims he did not try to resist arrest and Golden committed assault and battery when he struck him.

Prosecutor Jessup has not been notified by the justice of the peace that there is a case pending and will take no action in the matter until notified.

If the charge is brought against Golden as an officer, it will be the duty of the city attorney to defend him, but if the charge is made as against the individual personally, Golden will have to secure his own attorney."

BY THE WAYSIDE

"A young man went to a preacher to get married, and the preacher asked, 'How old are you, John?' He replied, 'I am half as old as my father. He is two years older than my mother. My eldest sister is two years older than my youngest sister. My youngest sister is four years older than my youngest brother.' How old are they altogether?" asked the preacher. The young man replied that the five children are seventeen years older than his father and mother. How old is John and each of the children, and his father and mother?

—Birney D. Spradling spent the day in Indianapolis.

RAPS THE REFORM MODE OF SPELLING

Miss Georgia Alexander, Well Known Here, Says Roosevelt's Idea Misses Mark

Miss Georgica Alexander, of Indianapolis, daughter of George Alexander, formerly of this city, one of the instructors in the Delaware county teachers' institute, took a "rap" at President Roosevelt and his spelling reform movement, that caused considerable comment among the 300 educators who were in the room. Miss Alexander is the author of the spelling book that the State has adopted for use during the next ten years.

"The President's spelling reform plan contains many good points, but it misses the one great object for which it was intended," said she. "Scarcely one of the 300 words which have been recommended for change is ever misspelled in the public schools. It is not words like 'although' or 'through' that are found incorrect, but it is words like 'disappoint,' 'relieve,' 'field,' 'necessary,' and 'similar' that should be changed."

Miss Alexander declared that spelling in the public schools "has become a lost art." One fault that she found with methods now in vogue was failure to teach the pupil the connection between correct spelling and the meaning of the word. As an example of this, she said, she requested one of her pupils in an Indianapolis school to write a sentence in which the word "error" was used. The pupil responded with this: "The Indian uses a bow and error."

LAW OFTEN BROKEN HERE IS ENFORCED

Two Men Arrested at Evansville for Selling Cigars
Out of the Hand

A violation of the federal law and an infringement which is common in Rushville among druggists, saloonists and cigar dealers is the selling or offering for sale cigars out of the hand. The law is one of which there is not a general knowledge, but which is enforced as is witnessed in the arrest of Edward A. Bennett and Lawrence R. Boyd, two young men, by Deputy United States Marshal Johann at Evansville.

They are charged with offering cigars for sale after taking them from the box. Just a few days ago during the Boonville fair, Bennett and Boyd conducted a lemonade and general confectionery stand. They also conducted a spin wheel at each corner laying cigars, which were given to the purchaser provided he was lucky enough in the spinning of the wheel. A revenue man noticed the method of conducting the sale of the cigars and out of kindness and realizing that they were not familiar with the law, he notified them to permit the cigars to remain in the box. Both men paid no heed to the caution, and on the following day were confronted by the same revenue man. Warrants for their arrest were issued.

The law is one which almost every cigar dealer in the city violates. It is customary for a dealer to delve into the midst of a box and gather a handful of the weeds to permit the purchaser to take his choice. While the dealer is showing his customer a great courtesy he is violating the law.

Owing to the small crop of Michigan peaches nearly all the canning companies in this part of the State have withdrawn their contracts and the entire peach market has been greatly affected. Although Michigan peaches are scarce this year they are of exceptionally fine quality. The Michigan crop this year is about one-third the yield of last year and as a consequence peaches have done a Santos Dumont act and are now soaring about with the clouds.

French newspapers are giving publicity to facts which go to show that the United States is only an under study in the matter of food adulterations. Oleomargarine, declares the Matin, of Paris, has been sold as butter, shop sweepings as pepper, horse meat as lark pie, and skimmed milk as the antisepticized article, thus murdering infants to the number of 30,000 a year. Of the 38,000,000 people in France, declares the Matin, more than 30,000,000 have no protection against the food adulterators. The alimentary products furnished by a majority of the chief supply centers of France, the Matin declares, have been of a death-dealing character. It is evident that there is wickedness in commercial life in countries other than the United States, some of our domestic critics to the contrary notwithstanding.

It is estimated that it would cost the government and the several States to acquire the railroads, in accordance with Mr. Bryan's plan, sixteen billion dollars. The interest charge alone on this amount at three per cent. would be twenty-five dollars per year for each average American family, supposing even that such an enormous amount could be borrowed for the experiment at that rate of interest or at any rate of interest at all. Each average family's share of the indebtedness would be four hundred dollars. The expenditures for betterment and extensions on the railroad each year exceed the outlay for interest charges; so here is a doubling of the little burden that Mr. Bryan proposes to lay on the back of the American taxpayer—a burden that must be borne in the form of direct taxation, as Mr. Bryan is for the overthrow of the present tariff system and the constitution blocks the income tax proposal. When the average family has contributed fifty dollars for incidental expenses, then the main expense of operating the railroad must be figured in. Possibly the railroads might be made self-supporting, with the interest and betterment accounts left out of consideration. Possibly not, for government establishments have never been made to pay expenses. Members of congress have discovered that the government printing office, which is expected to print their official stationery at cost, can not compete in prices with private establishments where the interest on an investment and a profit besides must be added. The more Mr. Bryan's latest idea is examined, the more it seems to deserve to be classified with the other theories which Mr. Bryan has offered the American people for the betterment of things, viz., free trade in 1892 and free silver in 1896.

BUSHELS OF MONEY.

State Fair, Association Stands Literally Ankle Deep in Coin.

Indianapolis, Ind., September 14.—The records for attendance at the Indiana state fairs were broken Thursday, when it was estimated that there were over 65,000 people on the grounds. The weather was ideal for the fair, and there were streams of people from all sections of the state. The interurban lines alone brought in over 50,000 visitors during the twenty-four hours. The railroads carried over 25,000. The crowd was so dense that it was almost impossible to get anywhere near the exhibits or the race course. For two hours in the afternoon people entered the grounds at the rate of 300 a minute. The fair association simply coined money. The ticket sellers stood ankle deep in coin all day. Employees of the board carried the money away in bushel baskets and deposited it in a bank here. The profits from the fair will be larger than ever before. It is understood that enough money was taken in at the gates on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to pay all expenses, so that Thursday's and today's receipts will be "velvet" for the board.

Secretary Riley of the Democratic state committee, who has returned from Louisville, where he attended the Bryan reception, said that the "peerless leader" may spend a week in Indiana toward the end of the campaign. He had a brief conference with Bryan relative to his dates for this state, but Bryan could not give a positive statement as to when he will come, but he assured Riley that he is anxious to come to Indiana to participate in the campaign. He gave Riley the impression that he will arrange to spend a week in Indiana notwithstanding the pressure for addresses elsewhere. Riley said he does not know whether or not a special train will be chartered for the trip. The organization is not financially able to provide a special train now, but the money may be raised. There will be a conference of the party leaders here some time next week at which a decision will probably be reached as to whether or not a special train will be used. There are many demands for speeches by Bryan, but Chairman Hendon of the speakers' bureau is not replying to them now. They will receive attention as soon as it is known how much time Bryan can give and when he will come to the state.

Chairman O'Brien is arranging his affairs so that he can come here soon to take active charge of the Democratic campaign. After next week he will probably spend most of his time in Indianapolis until the battle is over. Secretary Riley has been in control at headquarters up to the present. He is an old-timer and has carried out the necessary details. There has been none of the push, however, that is expected to be exhibited henceforth. Riley has the co-operation of Gilbert Hendon of Bloomfield, who is arranging for the opening of the speechmaking campaign, and of Millard Cox, a well-known newspaper man, who is in charge of the press bureau. A great deal of work is being done that is not showy but which is absolutely necessary to the beginning of any campaign. Within the next two weeks the fight from the Democratic side will be under way.

Sheriff Sourbier has received another letter signed A. O. Baker, the tobacco trust lobbyist, for whose capture Governor Hanly recently offered on the part of the state a reward of $3,000. Sourbier does not know whether the letter was written by Baker, but he thinks it may have been. It was mailed at Londonderry, Ireland. The sheriff says the signature is that of Baker. The sheriff intimated that he is in communication with Baker and that the latter is considering a proposition to return to Indiana and face the charges against him. He refuses to divulge the contents of the letter. Several letters purporting to come from the fugitive have been received here lately.

Colorado Democrats.
Denver, Colo., Sept. 14.—After three days of strenuous sessions the Democratic state convention nominated a full state ticket, headed by Alva Adams for governor and Elias M. Ammons for lieutenant governor. The action of the convention, which is considered by all concerned as the most momentous, was the reading out of the party of the Speer faction of Denver county because of their alleged subservience to local utility corporations.

He Stands Suspended.
Washington, Sept. 14.—Public Printer Stillings has sustained the action of Acting Foreman Ashion, who last month suspended A. J. Tanner, a bookbinder, on the charge of insubordination. The charge was based on a refusal by Tanner to do a larger day's work, and the Bookbinders' union appealed the case to the public printer, who fixed the suspension period at thirty days.

Wichita, Kas., Sept. 14.—While attempting to rob the Hamilton hotel here, Joseph Fitzpatrick was shot and killed by George Ribbins, a hackdriver. John Morgan was arrested charged with complicity in the robbery.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—The grand jury has returned indictments against the directors of the Milwaukee-avenue State bank, of which Paul O. Stensland was president. The indictments charge embezzlement.

STATE NEWS NOTES

Incidents and Accidents and Doings of Note In Indiana.

WANTON VANDALISM

Without Conscience and For No Known Cause Fish Poisoners Are at Work In Howard.

Pretty Pools Despoiled and Their Waters Are Now Full of Putrid Fish.

Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 14.—Poison of some kind was deposited in Willits pool, a beautiful sheet of water, covering two acres, nine miles east of this city, and the fish with which the pond was stocked are perishing by the thousands. The fish began dying Tuesday, and now so many are dead that it is believed very few are alive. The pool was stocked ten years ago with bass, blue gills and croppies. They thrived and multiplied and yielded many fine catches to the owner, Anderson Willits.

The killing of the fish in this pool, following so soon after the poisoning of those in the artificial lake in the Kokomo driving park, leads the authorities to believe that some person has maliciously deposited a large quantity of mineral poison in these bodies of water. Not one live fish is left in the driving park lake, and it is believed the destruction will be as complete in the Willits pool. A sample of the water from the driving park lake is now in the possession of the state chemist. Mr. Willits will send a sample from his pool immediately. Workmen at the driving park found a wooden vessel in the lake yesterday. It had been sunk several feet in the bank and is believed to have contained the poison that killed the fish. This is the first clue the authorities have had to work on.

A CITY'S FLIGHT.

Covington's Water and Light Service Cut Off by Fire.

Covington, Ind., Sept. 14.—The Covington Light and Water company was destroyed by fire early this morning, causing a loss estimated at $20,000, with $5,000 insured.

The fire, which is believed to have been of incendiary origin, started in the office immediately over the pumping station. The shut-off is believed to have been tampered with before the plant was fired, and no water could be turned on the blaze. In a short time the floors fell in, and one wall soon followed. The pumping machinery was not badly damaged, however, and it is thought it can be put in new quarters. The electrical machinery is a wreck.

The city is without fire protection, but it is thought the supply will be turned on in a few days. The electric light plant will not be able to run for several months, as new machinery will have to be put in.

The company was organized in 1893 by Chicago capitalists.

Asylum Contract Let.

Indianapolis, Sept. 14.—The contract for the construction of the South-eastern Indiana hospital for insane at Madison has been awarded to E. M. Campbell, Findlay, O., whose bid was $1,166,473. This does not include hardware and chimney bids, which are still under consideration. Five hundred thousand dollars are now available for the buildings. Campbell accepts the contract contingent on the legislature making an appropriation sufficient to complete the work. The construction of buildings for which there is an appropriation will be started immediately.

Hated to Leave Baby.

Princeton, Ind., Sept. 14.—Walter Jerrell, near this city, quarreled with his young wife and then grabbed a shotgun, expressing a determination to commit suicide. His wife wrested the weapon from him and he left the house. Soon after she found him poised on the top of a well curb, and as she spoke his name he plunged headlong into the well. The force of the plunge drove Jerrell's head into the mud to his shoulders and he smothered to death. Jerrell left a note reading, "I am not afraid to die, though I hate to leave my little baby."

A Justice In Trouble.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 14.—Justice of the Peace A. W. Church was indicted by the grand jury charged with misappropriating $400. The indictment was secured by Attorney General Miller, who alleges that Mr. Church appropriated to his own use state fees in at least thirty-two cases.

Must Serve Life Sentence.

MARINES ON GUARD.

President Palma Can Now Get a Wink or Two of Sleep.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The sailors landed from the cruiser Denver at Havana have been ordered to return immediately to the vessel save for a small guard for the American legation. The landing was not made under instructions from Washington.

Cienfuegos, Cuba, Sept. 14.—Marines from the United States gunboat Marietta have been landed here to protect American interests.

Havana, Sept. 14.—There are 120 sailors from the United States protected cruiser Denver camped today in front of old La Fuerza castle, facing the Plaza de Armas, the little park in front of the presidential palace, which is the seat of the Cuban government. The American flag is planted just inside of the low stone coping separating the castle grounds from O'Reilly street, which thoroughfare passes between the camp and the Plaza de Armas. The American sailors are armed with regulation rifles, with the exception of a few who carry revolvers or carbines. Two field Howitzers and two rapid fire guns were sent ashore with the sailors and now point across the pretty little park, a significant warning to anyone approaching the executive headquarters of the Cuban government with hostile intent.

The Denver, which originally anchored further up the bay, dropped down last evening to a position abreast of the foot of O'Reilly street and in front of the offices of the captain of the port, so as to be conveniently near the detachment sent ashore and close at hand in case of need. The whole business was done so quietly and quickly that it caused the greatest surprise. The reason for the sudden landing of the American sailors was a conference between President Palma, Charge d'Affaires Sleeper and Commander Colwell during the afternoon. On the occasion of the latter's formal call upon President Palma, Mr. Sleeper asked the president the direct question whether he considered that the government was able to protect all American interests in Havana unaided. The president replied that he hoped that the government would be able to do so, but himself suggested that it might be advisable as a measure of precaution in the interests of Americans, as well as for the maintenance of order in general, to land marines at some convenient point, suggesting the Plaza de Armas. Mr. Sleeper and Commander Colwell, after a brief conference, decided that the landing should be made, and at 5:30 o'clock the detachment, under command of Executive Officer Miller, began coming ashore with arms, ammunition and camp paraphernalia and took up a position commanding the approaches to the palace. Questioned whether their duties on shore would simply be protection of American interests or defense of the palace and President Palma, Executive Officer Miller and the other officers of the detachment unanimously replied that if the town should be attacked or if an uprising occurred in the city they undoubtedly would have something to do regardless of fine questions as to who attacked.

An Offer to Surrender.

Havana, Sept. 14.—Commander Colwell of the cruiser Denver was approached by an emissary of Gen. Castillo, one of the insurgent leaders, offering to surrender to him if guaranteed a fair trial.

HOW TO DO IT.

Railroads Figure Out a Way to Beat the New Law.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Unusual interest attaches to the hearing of the interstate commerce commission on the question of the requirement of the new railway rate law of thirty days' notice of intended changes in freight rates. Aside from the fact that the testimony and discussions brought out charges and counter-charges of endeavoring to restrict competition upon the part of lines east of the Mississippi and those west of the river, there was injected into the proceedings something of a sensation when Chairman Knapp read a letter from a party who he said was a well known president of a western railroad, insinuating in connection with the question of waiver of the thirty days' notice that the commission might "wink" at certain practices of the cotton exporters, while certain railroads might scoop their competitors by inaugurating "instantaneous midnight tariffs."

Judge Edward Baxter of Nashville, Tenn., counsel for a number of railroads, bitterly assailed the writer of the letter and charged that it was an insult to the commission and those who were seeking the waiver of the thirty-day provision of the law.

Bryan Replies In Kind to Sullivan's Recent Retort and the Battle Wages Merrily.

The Illinois Committeeman's Challenge Is Shunted Aside by a Bit of Skillful Word Parley.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 14.—The reply of William J. Bryan to the statement of Roger Sullivan of Chicago was given out last night. Mr. Bryan had said that he would not lower the discussion with Mr. Sullivan to one of personal controversy. The text of his reply follows:

"In his speech before the Jefferson club in Chicago on the evening of Sept. 4, Mr. Bryan referred to the case of Mr. Roger Sullivan, Democratic national committeeman from Illinois. Mr. Sullivan has replied in a statement quite characteristic of the man and his methods, but he will not be permitted to lower this discussion to the level of a personal controversy. The public is not interested in Mr. Sullivan's views of Mr. Bryan any more than it would be interested in Mr. Bryan's views concerning Mr. Sullivan. Mr. Sullivan's personality. Mr. Sullivan is the Democratic national committeeman from Illinois holding his office by unfair methods. This matter was presented to the St. Louis convention and the evidence would have convinced the convention had not the delegates feared the effect of an adverse decision upon the presidential candidate, whom they were pledged to support. If Mr. Sullivan disputes the assertion that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Springfield convention were opposed to him he can fight the question out with the Majority League of Illinois, which will doubtless accommodate him.

"As Mr. Bryan has not asked for a nomination and has not announced that he will be a candidate, he will not submit the question whether he should be a candidate to Mr. Sullivan or to any body of persons less numerous than the members of the Democratic party of the United States. Neither can the question as to whether Mr. Sullivan should be re-elected to the national committee be submitted to the members of a convention already adjourned. Such a decision would have no binding force. The question must be submitted to the Democrats of Illinois when they meet to select delegates to the next national convention, and Mr. Sullivan will not be permitted to dodge the issue that is raised against him. He is officially connected with a favor-seeking, franchise-holding corporation, and the question is whether the Democratic organization should be paralyzed by the influence of the men whose private interests make it impossible for them to be guardians of the public.

"In speaking of the Sullivan case at Chicago, Mr. Bryan said: 'I hold that no man who is officially connected with a corporation that is seeking privileges ought to act as a member of a political organization, because he cannot represent this corporation and the people at the same time. He cannot serve the public while he is seeking to promote the financial interests of the corporation with which he is connected.'

"This is the issue. Before the trust question became the dominant one it was not so important what a man's corporate connections were, but when this question is the supreme question of the hour the party organization must be above suspicion, and the Democrats of Illinois and all other states are invited to inspect the connections of those who aspire to the position of party managers. The people cannot be fooled, and the party that attempts to fool them is sure to learn of its mistake when the votes are counted.

"Mr. Bryan will urge the Democratic party to put itself in a position where it can fight boldly and persistently for the regulation of such corporations as are not monopolistic and for the prevention of any private monopoly whatever. To this end the organization must be composed of men who are free to act for the public and not tied by personal interests to corporations which are seeking favor at the public's expense."

Bryan at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Sept. 14.—Introduced by Mayor E. J. Dempsey, and speaking from a stand erected over the diamond of the Cincinnati ball park, William J. Bryan last night addressed an immense audience which occupied all of the 10,000 seats located in the grandstand and several thousand additional chairs placed in front of the stands. He was given an enthusiastic reception.

Pick and Shovel

II.

As a nation we have come to a new order of things; the men and women who in the future will make themselves most strongly felt in our social, industrial and political life are, for the most part, children of fortune; and if our working people are to hold any part in the economy of things they must keep their bodies clean, their brains active and be ever on the to prove their individual worth. You can do this kindly and quietly, but let me urge of you that in all your intercourse with other human beings you shall endeavor to leave no doubt as to your right to standing-room on the earth's surface.

This is not vain show that I am advocating, no indeed; no one believes more strongly in the grace of humility than does the writer of these lines; but friends, it is not humility to degrade your own person and finally make an ass of yourself for some self-appointed politician to ride into power.

Every man, no matter how few his talents—please note that I do not say opportunities can do at least two things: He can follow his chosen vocation and he can be a Christian gentleman. Take almost any of our working people, who are living clean lives, give them one or two hundred good books and a little leisure to restore the overdrawn energy of their muscular powers, together with a comfortable home and modest apparel and you have the American gentleman. This is the man spoken of in the proverb where we read: "Seest thou a man diligent in his business he shall stand before kings." Seest thou a man, says the wise man; not a dude, not a suit of clothes, not a bag of money, nor yet a title; a man, with only one equal in all God's creation—a woman.

Not only that, but you have the American citizen—and we now have many—who can cast an intelligent ballot without being coached by some fellow who wants to go to congress and learn how to put on French airs.

This type of manhood and womanhood is worth striving for. I say womanhood, because they stand under the stars and stripes, on an equal footing.

This giving of human excellence is worth giving up some things among the surfeited rich, in order that it may be a nation's heritage; and some day, if our wealthy men do not make some voluntary concessions, the millions of laborers in this country are going to ask them to "simplify their baggage."

I would that I had the power to appeal to our "common people" in such a manner as would raise their united voice in an unmistakable protest against the spirit of extravagance that is submerging a million homes of poor men in this country. But I must leave this phase of my subject for another time, probably years later, for we are all talking "prosperity" just now. The time is coming, however, when the poorest industrious man in all this broad land can speak and make himself heard. The time is coming when he will say: "We have a law, and by that law there will be no more private family railroad coaches constructed in this country; we have a law, and by that law there will be no private family floating vessels constructed above a certain displacement; we have a law, and by that law there will be no private family dwellings built, above a certain specified cost more than the average cost of all the dwellings in the State here said building is constructed." These and many other things he will command when he learns the power of his ballot.

Some one said to me the other day: "Give the laborer leisure and he will spend his time in the saloon." Not every one, and the number of temperate men will constantly increase, when their life purposes are broadened; besides, the saloon will no longer hold the prominent place that it holds today when alcoholic beverages, as such, are no longer manufactured. Don't smile! That day is coming and it is not a hundred years hence.

We do a great deal of talking about the "dignity of labor," but does it not lose some of its dignity when some man that has always done "nice" work falls back to pick and shovel.

I want to tell my readers right here that manual labor, as it is largely conducted today, and has been conducted since the beginning of time, is positively degrading. I can take any man and woman in your city, confine them to hard labor for ten hours each day for three hundred days in the year and repeat the operation to the third generation, with the result that every aspiration of mind and soul that should have gone on down to the grandchildren will become extinct.

Now, my friends, with this before you, can you not see that it is a very easy matter for the children of the poor and the children of the rich to drift out of sympathy with each other. Ah, my friends, if manual labor is so "dignified," why did that poor fool blow out his brains on Wall street the other day when the watered stocks leaked?

Let us take the man who has financially failed and has lost heart, place him in a lumber camp, give him a saw and ax, allow him to work a few hours every day and in six months he will have a broader view of life and a stronger hold on things temporal and eternal than he ever knew before.

Then for the next six months let him work six hours each day and read a few books of the nature of Chas. Wagner's "Simple Life, and at the end of the first year he will send for his family with the news that he has regained his fortune.

Mr. Lawson advocates sending some of our great financiers to Sing Sing. In this he is very wrong. It might be necessary to put some of them under strong guard, but a few years work cleaning the streets of New York City would be better than any prison reform method.

In all sincerity, there is no blood purifier like a few hours with pick and shovel or saw and ax. Try it, some of you fellows who think your pleasure, as your work, must be something genteel. Feel how it sends the gentle undulations through your body, bringing into play capillaries and veins that have lain dormant for a quarter of a century.

William Dean Howells advocates three hours of work in each day for every able bodied man, be he artist or artisan.

Our most intellectual men are those who have carried this into literal practice. President Roosevelt's daily work in the open air ought to be a standing rebuke to our sagoline propelled upper-tens of today. Three hours with rolling-pin, mop and broom will beat a bushel of little pills and will not spoil the dignity of any woman in all this land.

I believe in class distinction; I believe in a dividing line in society, but it is a line that separates iniquity from righteousness, truth from falsehood, purity from licentiousness, and sincerity from shams.

ELIJAH HOPE.
